Prescription Chicken to Host Tasting in the Shared Kitchen of Their New Brick-and-Mortar Location

WHAT: Prescription Chicken will celebrate the opening of its new brick and mortar location with a media tasting event in their shared kitchen space. Two other vendors, Astro Doughnuts & Fried Chicken and Saya Salteña, share the space with Prescription Chicken. Media will have the opportunity to sample Prescription Chicken's signature dishes, capture visuals, and conduct interviews.

WHO: Valerie Zweig and Taryn Pellicone, founders of Prescription Chicken
Representatives from Astro Doughnuts & Fried Chicken and Saya Salteña

WHEN: Wednesday, Feb. 4, 2026, 2:00 p.m. ET

WHERE: Prescription Chicken
1819 7th St. NW
Washington, D.C. 20001

WHY: Prescription Chicken's new storefront marks a major milestone for the company. This new home in D.C.'s Shaw neighborhood highlights collaboration among local food businesses and offers media an exclusive taste of Prescription Chicken's menu.

CONTACT: To attend this event, please contact Emma Daffner, Director of Media Relations at 681-209-5516 or edaffner@prescriptionchicken.com.

ABOUT PRESCRIPTION CHICKEN:

Prescription Chicken was founded by cousins Valerie Zweig and Taryn Pellicone in 2016 with the goal of delivering delicious, from-scratch and comforting chicken soup to those in need. Since then, the company has grown into a national retail business. Prescription Chicken's retail line, Chix Soup Co., is sold in more than 1,000 grocery stores nationwide. Though retail line production is done in Minneapolis, Prescription Chicken is dedicated to running its delivery business out of its D.C. storefront.
